UM CITIZENS COUNCIL ORGANIZED

MISSOULA--

A 56-member University of Montana Citizens Council has been organized to perform a fourfold function for the institution, UM President Richard C. Bowers announced.

During the opening session on Oct. 26, the council was charged by Bowers to:

1. assist the University in informing the people of the state about current programs and activities of the University;
2. inform the University about how it is perceived by the citizens of the state;
3. provide a sounding board for the University on ways it can better serve the state;
4. assist the University in improving legislative relations.

One session explored the potential strengths in coordinating the current Fine Arts and Radio-TV programs on campus.

A second segment presented several examples of UM research and public service activities and featured the work of professionals in the UM Wood Chemistry Laboratory, the Earthquake Research Laboratory and the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders.

The council will meet several times each year and is comprised of citizens from across the state.
